ORDINANCES ON FIRST READING

One Provides for a Vacation of a Portion of Fourth Street

SEWAGE MUST BE LAID

A regularly adjourned meeting of the borough council was held Tuesday evening, with all members present except W. H. Calvert. Mr. Mitchell reported that he and the President had investigated the sewer near Ninth street and Lincoln avenue. They found that the sewer on the Matthews property could not take care of the surface water, and asked that council go in a body to inspect the premises, and if possible decide upon some line of action.

An ordinance for the vacation of a portion of Fourth street, and an ordinance providing for the paving of the portion not vacated, were presented and passed first reading and ordered printed and posted.

An ordinance for the paving of Lookout avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets was passed on third and final reading.

The Borough Clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for this work, all bids to be submitted not later than the evening of September 24th. He was also authorized to advertise for bids for the laying of concrete walks on a portion of Meadow avenue, near Third street and on Third street. These bids are also to be submitted by the evening of September 3rd.

The street commissioner was directed to notify property owners in different parts of the borough to lay sidewalks. This concluded the business of the evening and council adjourned.

GREATEST DRAMA EVER SEEN ON THE SCREEN

"The Barrier," a ten reel photoplay produced from the book by the same name, by Rex Beach, which comes to the Coyle theatre tomorrow, September 13 is one of the strongest dramas that has ever been produced. The interest of the story becomes more graphic and human on the screen than on the stage. The picture is strong, vital and human, depicting the love of a white girl, who thinks she is a half breed Indian, for a blue-blooded Southerner. 75-41

DIED FROM BURNS RECEIVED LAST WEEK

Michael Aponosewicz of 1011 Lincoln avenue, died at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital Monday night from burns received Tuesday night of last week at the Charleroi Iron works, aged 29 years. He is survived by his wife and one son, Julius, aged 4 years. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased was a member of the Polish congregation and the services will be in charge of the Polish priest.

FUEL SHORTAGE IS VERY ACUTE

Large Shipments to the Lakes, but Little is Provided for Local Use

INDUSTRIES ARE RESTRICTED

The fuel supply has become a very serious question in a number of communities throughout the country and many industries will have to curtail activities or suspend altogether unless there is a modification in the attitude of the government with reference to lake shipments.

At a meeting of the Homestead Business Men's Association, held Tuesday evening, resolutions were adopted, requesting that business houses close early in the evening, in order to conserve great quantities of coal and gas.

The Lake Shore Electric Railway company of Columbus, O., which operates car lines in Ohio, has issued a statement which says that service will have to suspend unless there is some relief from the fuel famine, while the Beaver Valley Traction company has issued a statement that the car line is suffering from a coal shortage and unless relief is soon forthcoming a number of cars will have to be taken off the line.

Other communities are in the same difficulty, and unless relief is soon forthcoming conditions are apt to grow materially worse.

In the meantime the scarcity of commercial cars continue to worry mine operators. The wagon loaders are particularly hard hit in this respect. They could produce a great deal more coal if they had the cars in which to place their product, but they have no assurance from day to day that they will be provided with the transportation for their output.

The priority order of the government is held responsible for these conditions, as most of the coal mined on the railroads today is going to the lakes.

PARAGON SHORTHAND

A Wonderful System you can master in one half the time required to learn Gregg or Pitman. Our Night School offers you the opportunity to get quick sure results in a few months. Many of our night students are holding fine positions.

Would you ride in a Stage Coach or an Ox Cart when the Express train and the Auto are at your service? Then why should you learn a complicated system of Shorthand that was used in the Stage Coach and Ox Cart days.

You can learn Paragon in a few months and the Paragon writer can always read his notes. Get the best. It costs less and the time saved will mean much to you.

Our Teachers are experts chosen for their special fitness for this work. Do your bit. Enroll now and learn this quick easy practical system. Many fine places are open now; you cannot afford to waste a minute. Call at the office, Phone 532-J or write for full information. Douglas Business College, Charleroi, Pa. 75-42

LIABILITY FOR ROAD PUT ON ARGUMENT LIST

In the suit of the commonwealth ex rel., Francis Shunk Brown, attorney general, against John O. Watson and others, county commissioners, involving the question of the improvement of a bridge on the plank road near Washington, the case has been put on the argument list. The plank road is now a state road and the point at issue is whether the state or the county should improve this bridge.

DYNAMITERS BLOW UP HOME

Believed to be the Work of Black Hands, who Wanted Money

BUILDING BADLY WRECKED

The residence and butcher shop of Andrew Jumbo, of Gallatin, in Forward township, Allegheny county, a mining community across the river from Monongahela, was badly damaged by a dynamite explosion late Monday night. A heavy charge of dynamite was placed in Jumbo's wagon which was backed up against the building and the explosive fired. The wagon was wrecked and the front of the building was badly damaged.

Occupants of the Hotel Monow, just across the street from the Jumbo residence, were awakened by the explosion.

Explosives were broken. Jumbo with his family were asleep of the Jumbo home. They were hurled from their beds, but escaped injuries.

It is believed the explosion was a Black Hand plot and the result of Jumbo's refusal to comply with demands of the plotters. No arrests have been made.

RED CROSS SOCIAL NETS A NEAT SUM

A Red Cross Social was held at the home of Delbert Carson, Tuesday evening, which not only proved a success from a social, but from a financial standpoint as well. Those who took part in the social were Edna Bowers, Mary Daniels, Elizabeth Brickner, Mary Nutt, Priscilla Laverick, Priscilla VanVoorhis and Blanche and Janet Carson. Misses Bertha Kelly and Frances and Elizabeth Mills were out of town guests. The proceeds of the social amounted to $12.00, which amount was turned over to the Red Cross.

REGISTRANTS TO BE EXAMINED

Four Hundred Men Summoned to Appear Before the Board

NOT HALF OF QUOTA ACCEPTED

The physicians connected with the Fifth District of Washington county will begin the examination of two hundred additional registrants at the headquarters in Donora, Thursday morning. A similar number will be examined on Friday, which the Board hopes will conclude this phase of the work prior to securing the quota of the district, namely, 437 men.

Up to this date, 205 men have been certified to the District Board No. 3 at Greensburg as having been accepted for service and not having been exempted or discharged. Of the 1376 men heretofore summoned there appears to have been many exemptions, although the Board believes it will be able to secure quite a number of additional recruits from this number.

With the additional 400 men who are to be examined this week it hopes to have a sufficient number from which to make up the deficiency. The Board is already preparing to send the second draft of recruits to Camp Sherman and notices to registrants who have passed the examination and are being mailed this morning.

Before it, that it may be ready to certify the required number of men before the first of October.

THE PRICE OF COAL

Thirty years ago September 10th, coal was selling in the Cincinnati by the barge load at 7 cents a bushel. At that time there were over 8,000,000 bushels of coal lying in loaded boats and barges in the Pittsburgh harbor, waiting for a sufficient stage of water in the Ohio river that it might be shipped to market.

Coal today is selling at a much higher figure. The price fixed by the government at the mine today is $2 per ton, or almost 8 cents a bushel. This for run of mine, while the price quoted thirty years ago in Cincinnati was for inch and one half coal.

However, things have greatly changed since those September days three decades ago. The big coal fleets which used to be a feature of the Pittsburgh harbor, and which would be tied at the bank for months at a time exist only in memory. Very little coal is being shipped down the Ohio river below Steubenville, the local demands being such that it is practically impossible at the present time to keep up with the insistent requests for more fuel. Already industrial plants have had to close down, and others may follow unless there is an alleviation of present conditions, and the operators allowed to charge a price which they consider in keeping with fact cost.

It is a far cry from 1887 to 1917 but in these intervening years many changes have come to the coal business one of the most important of which has been the greatly increased consumption of coal in the United States and Cleveland, Ohio.

GOVERNMENT BOAT

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce has decided to wage a determined campaign for the operation of a line of steamboats in the Pittsburgh-Memphis-New Orleans trade under government control, if not absolute ownership, as a necessity in order to put new life into the river traffic. It is said the move has already received encouragement at the hands of the war department as a war measure, because of the present freight congestion, which it is asserted can be broken if the Interstate Commerce Commission will prescribe certain competition points for all carriers, steam or gasoline boats and the government cut down the cost of fuel.

The waterways were the early carriers of most of the commerce a few decades ago, and palatial steamers graced every river open for navigation. Few of the successors of these queens of the water remain today, the river traffic having gone down to practically nothing because of the stiff opposition on the part of railroads and the indifference of communities to look well after terminal facilities. Should the government take a hand in the river traffic and attempt to restore passenger and freight business, it would be a long step in the right direction for sooner or later the waterways of the country will be appraised at their true value and become again, as in the past, burden bearers for this continent.

BANISHING FOREIGN WORDS

In the serial story of his experiences in Germany ex-Ambassador Gerard tells how the hate of all things foreign led the police president of Berlin to attempt to chase out of the country all words of foreign origin. The title of the Hotel Bristol disappeared and the Hotel Westminger on the same street became Lindenhof. The French word, "confession," over a pretty department in another had to come down. Dressmakers had to take down the sign "confection." A general in command at Breslau wrote a confectioner to stop the use of the word "bonbon" in selling his candy, but the confectioner, "with a sense of humor and nerve unusual in Germany," wrote back that he would discontinue the use of "bonbon" when the general ceased to be known as "general," calling the attention of this high military authority to the fact that "general" was as much a French word as "bonbon."

The word "chauffeur" was also eliminated. "Kraftwagenfahrer" being urged as a substitute, but the Germanized "chauffeur" being finally accepted. Mr. Gerard does not say what was done about the word automobile itself, and one wonders if something was concocted as ponderous and forbidding as was chosen by certain Dutch professors a few years since who wished to make a word meaning "a carriage that is worked by petroleum, that travels fast, that has no horses and that does not run on rails." These, after learned digressings among Thetonic roots, produced no less a monster than "Benzpaardwielvoertuig."

COTTON AND COAL

In 1914 cotton sold at 4 to 6 cents a pound. To save the growers from bankruptcy it was seriously proposed at Washington that warehouse receipts for cotton be made a basis for currency, so that the farmers could store their cotton to wait for a higher range of prices, says an exchange. Before the scheme could be worked out, cotton started to rise in price, so that during 1915 it sold from 10 to 12 cents a pound, and in 1916 from 12 to 16 cents a pound. The price is now such that the growers receive 26 cents a pound and upwards.

In the meantime, coal in 1914 went down so low that it was sold at 75 cents a ton at the mine, a price that was accepted only to avoid that deterioration in coal mines that comes from idleness. The government never thought of making coal storage receipts a basis for currency.

Now the government comes along and says to the owners of bituminous coal mines: "82 cents a ton is enough for your coal and that is all any one shall pay you."

It is all right for the price of cotton to advance from 4 cents to 26 cents, but it is all wrong for coal to advance from 75c to $4.00.

THE COAL SITUATION

The coal situation and the car supply is acute in West Virginia as well as in Pennsylvania. This is the way the Fairmont West Virginia puts it:

"People who have been reading the bulletins which set forth the wonderful things that the railroads have been doing since their war organization has been perfected must have learned with feelings akin to amazement, so far as this coal region is concerned, they have slumbered back to the deplorable conditions of last spring, when the coal car supply hung around the 50 per cent basis and the mines were losing men every day because there was not work enough to make it possible for them to live."

The statements regarding the wonders the railroads have been accomplishing are convincing enough. The public and most of the newspapers of the land believe them implicitly. But the cold facts, as set forth by the statistics compiled at the office of the Central West Virginia Coal Operators association, are that after bringing the car supply up to something near a satisfactory figure during the first half of August the whole situation blew up and mines in this district—important mines that had been idle for as much as four or five consecutive days because there were no cars.

The coal operators are very wise in their determination that the public finds out just exactly what is going on. When the crisis in the coal trade came this year the operators were made to suffer for the extortion of the middlemen and the retail dealers and the deplorable collapse of the transportation systems of the country. They were held responsible for the sins of people over whom they had no control. Unless the coal operators take care to make it so plain that even the careless and foolish people who live in big cities will know who is to blame when the next winter comes this winter "demagogues" will take advantage of the situation so that time to say the coal trade is suffering production and withholding coal from the market in order to make the government raise the price.

The price is too low. That every prejudiced man who has examined coal production under present conditions knows. But the coal operators of the country: that is to say the operators who constitute the backbone of the industry, are not going to lay down on their account. Their patriotism and public spirit is above that. They are willing to go ahead and trust to the facts—all the facts—of coal production are in the hands of the proper officials there will be such a readjustment of the rates as will be fair to the producers.

But what are they to do if they cannot get the cars? The most optimistic must realize by this time that there is a serious danger of a genuine coal famine this winter in the centers of population and in the regions that are long distances from the mines. In times past the coal industry in the hope of receiving better treatment shielded the railroads when the public raged. The time has come. It seems to us, when this policy in sheer defense must be abandoned. Therefore, as we have already said, the operators are wise in making arrangements to show the public that the railroads are deceiving them when they boast about the wonderful things they are doing in the way of improving freight conditions."

The United States Shipping Board proposes to divert shipments of foodstuffs for Europe to Southern ports as convenience dictates, the ports named being Galveston, Port Arthur, New Orleans, Savannah and Charleston. The object is to avoid congestion at New York and employ the available ports nearest the points of production. Why should not Kansas and Oklahoma wheat and corn, for example, go out at Galveston and Port Arthur rather than be freighted half way across the continent to the big port at New York? The government's plan is excellent but not new; it is merely forwarding a reform long since begun at the demand of the convenience of all concerned. Some years have already passed since in the volume of their exports Galveston and New Orleans became second only to New York.

Commenting on a parting parade of our novice soldiers, the New York Sun of recent issue addresses certain citizens of uncertain status in the following none too complimentary terms: "Look at them from behind your shutters, ye hyphenates. Many of them the sons of immigrants, they have but one country in their hearts today. They are what you might have been."

"The People's Conference of America for Democracy and Peace" called the "Peace Outcasts" for short, after being chased out of three States and warned away from others, finally found a place to stand up and "resolve" in only because the notorious Mayor of Chicago defied the Governor of Illinois. Even then they had to swallow their own eloquence and hurry through the mere form so that they could scatter before the troops arrived.

Potatoes are selling at a very low price in some parts of Pennsylvania. In some parts being 60 cents a bushel. At Mountain Lake Park in Maryland tubers are quoted at $1 per bushel. With the immense crop produced this year the price of this commodity should be at a reasonable figure at least.

Argentina has received a pledge from Germany, but so did this country in the Sussex case and what was it worth? Germany makes scraps of paper of them all just as soon as such a process seems to be favorable to her plans.

A large Cleveland bakery has announced that dating from September 1 it will sell a twelve-ounce loaf for five cents and a 24-ounce loaf for ten cents. Government-prodded reform really seems to have begun.

Soap is very scarce in Germany, but even if it were plentiful and if white-wash were a drug on the market there would be no means of removing the dark stains from the blood-guilt.

The distillation of alcoholic beverages from grain and other foodstuffs fruit included, was not booked to cease until September 8, but of course the soaring of the prices of all liquors long preceded that date.

We stood a lot from Germany, but when the Kaiser proposed to cut up our national domain and hand over some of the largest pieces to our Mexican neighbors he found that there was a limit.

Mrs. B. writes: "Had suffered for years with stomach disorder. Could not eat without great distress, lost weight and was run down. Feared it was ulcerated stomach. Fortunately I secured a sample of HEMO, which seemed to satisfy my hunger, and was retained without distress. I immediately bought a package and started to take it regularly. I continued to take it once a day and improved steadily. After one year I have gained 35 pounds of good solid flesh and can eat my food with no distress. I can recommend HEMO to all sufferers from stomach or digestive disorders."

You should try HEMO today. Find out for yourself how much it will really help you. It is so easy to prepare. Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water. Try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

PETITION FOR SALE OF THE JOHNETTA FOUNDRY

A petition was filed in court at Washington on Monday, for the sale of the Johnetta Foundry and Machine company at Marietta, formerly a subsidiary concern of the Pittsburgh-Butte company. The machine company has been in the hands of a receiver since June 6, 1915, and has been operated under order of court made from time to time. Notice is given of the proposed sale and final

WEDDING BELLS FOR MARINES

Invitations were issued on Tuesday for the wedding of Miss Margaret Volker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Volker of Monongahela and Charles Fries, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fries, of Charleroi. The wedding will be solemnized Tuesday morning, September 25 at 8 o'clock in the church of the transfiguration, Monongahela, by Rev. Father Walsh. Following a wedding trip the couple will go to housekeeping in Charleroi.

MANY MEN RELEASED BY THE DISTILLERIES

The closing of the distilleries at Brownsville last Saturday night, affected about two hundred men, who had heretofore been employed at these plants. There are three distilleries in that locality, the Sam Thompson, the Monongahela and the Ham-burger Distilling company, all of whom ceased to manufacture alcoholic liquors at the time specified by the government. In addition to the men who were engaged in the active operation of the distilleries there were 15 revenue men on duty continually, most of whom will be transferred to other work, or possibly released from the service. The amount of revenue paid in to the government from the Brownsville distilleries amounted to about $800,000 per year.

BAN ELECTRIC SIGNS TO CONSERVE COAL

The "Great White Ways" of cities and towns are likely to be put out of commission this fall, because of the scarcity of fuel. As mills cannot obtain a sufficient supply, it has been suggested that all electric signs be banned for the time being, that the coal supply may be used to a greater advantage.

SUGGESTIONS FROM EXEMPTION BOARD

The District Exemption Board No. 3, which has headquarters at Greensburg and which comprises Blair, Bedford, Columbia, Somerset, Westmoreland, Fayette, Washington and Greene counties, with 34 local boards and a total of 105,000 registrants, has adopted some suggestions to aid those interested in the selective draft in deciding whether they should ask for exemption, and the grounds upon which such exemptions may be urged. Among these suggestions are the following:

1. The paramount interest to be served is that of the nation. Everything else is secondary and it is the duty of boards to aid the nation to secure an army.
2. Marriage in itself is not ground for exemption. Only where the wife or child is dependent on the husband or father for support can a claim for exemption be allowed. If either husband or wife is possessed of means, the income of which is sufficient for maintenance, or if the parents or wife are able, ready and willing to provide maintenance, then a claim for exemption on the grounds of marriage may be disallowed.
3. Industrial claims, where the operator says his work is necessary to the production of material for the government and which is absolutely necessary in the prosecution of the war, must be made direct to the district board. Local Boards are not authorized to receive any such applications.
4. Any person selected for draft wishing to apply for exemption on grounds of dependency must have the local board make its final decision on such application, after which an appeal may be taken to the District Board. In case of an appeal from the decision of the local board on the ground of dependency, notice of such appeal must be given to the local board by the person selected for draft, as well as to the district board on the proper forms.

VISIT G. A. R. HOME AT HAWKINS STATION

John Haines and his mother, Mrs. Katherine Lerner of 1008 Third street attended the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Ladies of the G. A. R. home at Hawkins station, near Pittsburgh, last Thursday. At the present time there are 100 inmates in the home, wives and mothers and sisters of deceased soldiers of the civil war. The visitor report that the home is a lovely place and all the inmates are well cared for. The visit prompted the following lines:
The girls of '61
Their hair is turning gray
But remember friends, they'll not forget
The boys who have gone away.
They'll knit the sweaters, socks and wristlets
To keep them good and warm,
And pray for God's best blessing
To keep them from all harm.

HAND WINDOW PLANTS MAY RESUME DEC 1

It is announced that the hand window glass plants are not likely to resume operations this year before December 1. There is no prospect for a meeting of the wage scale committee for some time.

CHARLEROI YANKEES DEFEATS WEBSTER NINE

The Charleroi Yankees defeated the James Websters in a base ball game played recently at Oakland Park by a score of 7 to 3. The battery for the Yankees was Kuhn and Pizzica, and for the Websters, Dolan and Webster. Kuhn was very effective, striking out 16 batsmen.

WILL OF HENRY CRABB FILED FOR PROBATE

By the will of Henry Crabb late of North Charleroi, his estate goes to his wife for life and upon her death to his son, Mark E. for the support of the deceased's daughter, Anna during her lifetime.

Top and Bottom.

The chiropractor is a humble individual. In the profession he begins, and is content to remain at the foot. The barber, on the contrary, is ambitious. He begins at the head and stays there.

PROMOTION COMES TO CHARLEROI BOY

The pleasing news being received from various camps, telling of the promotion of so many of Charleroi's soldiers to official positions, speaks well for the boys, and likewise does great credit to Charleroi. In addition to those already mentioned, the news has just been received that Thomas Mangum, who was among the first to volunteer from Charleroi, and who is attached to the Bucknell unit of the United States Army Ambulance Corps, has been promoted from corporal to sergeant, and last week passed the examination for first lieutenant. His many friends will be pleased to learn of his receiving the appointment.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Wood and three children of Cadiz, Ohio, are visiting at the home of W. E. Darby. Today Mr. Darby and Mr. Wood went to Fairchance, where they will visit with Mr. Wilson who was recently injured in an automobile accident.

NORTH CHARLEROI

Herman Phillips and sister Mary of Uniontown motored here Saturday, where they visited their sister, Mrs. W. J. Foulks and brother F. C. Phillips.
The N. C. Fancy Work club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Russell Metz Friday evening with seven members and three friends present. At 10 o'clock a lunch was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Myers in two weeks.
Misses Mabel Parks and Mamie Rockwell were callers in Washington.
Mrs. Emma Tabern and daughter Lilly of Beaver Falls are guests at the home of Mrs. Samuel Gaskill.
Mrs. John H. Ellinger who has been in the Charleroi-Monessen hospital is improving.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Rivers and niece Emma Rivers and Miss Theola Compton of Donora were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Foulks.

AVOID MISTAKES

No Need to Experiment With Charleroi. Charleroi Evidence at Hand
There are many well-advised kidney remedies on the market today, but none so well recommended—none so Charleroi recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills.
Read this Charleroi case:
F. B. Parker, says: "For twenty-five years, I had rheumatic pains and at times I was unable to work. The trouble started with pains in my hips, and extended into my left limb. I was so bad off at one time that I couldn't work. I heard of a man who had been cured of kidney troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at Lange's Pharmacy. They gave me relief in four days and continued use made me better. I am now feeling fine and I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills are the best kidney medicine on the market."
Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Parker had. Foster-Milburn Co.

YOUNG ORPHAN GIRL

How She Was Cured. Had Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Awful Pains, Could Not Work.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I am an orphan girl, and when only seventeen years old had to support myself, but I would have such sick spells every month that I would have to stay at home from work, and I could not afford to do it. I had headaches, dizzy spells and pain in my side. My sister told me how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, so I began taking it. The result is I am now in good health and never lose a day from my work, and you may publish my letter to show other girls the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do." — Miss MARIE SCHMELTZ, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

This good old root and herb remedy has proved unequalled for periodical suffering of young women; it contains what is needed to restore healthful conditions.

Write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass., for free advice if you need it.

FUEL SHORTAGE IS BECOMING ACUTE

Youngstown is suffering from a fuel shortage and the operations of the steel mills is curtailed in consequence. In some cases plants are not operating more than 50 per cent of capacity. There is said to be practically no coal for retail distribution and many persons suffered on Monday because of the inability to secure fuel. The priority ruling giving the northwest preference in shipment is said to be primarily responsible for the condition. Locally, but one commercial car was being loaded in the Charleroi yards on Monday, apparently no other cars having been placed. This car situation commercially speaking, is quite acute, at least there appears to be a very slow distribution, while for lake shipments it is possible to secure a one hundred per cent service. Promise is made that by the first of October the retail price of coal will be fixed but whether this will solve the fuel problem is a matter to be determined later.

MARINE SERVICE IS THE ONE FOR HIM

W. D. Pollock of Lookout avenue, has received a letter from his son, Charles Barr Pollock, now serving in the 94th Company of Marines at Paris Island, S. C., in which he says: "For any young man who wants to do his bit for his country I believe the Marine branch of the service is the one for him to join."

The routine work of the day here is: Up at 5 o'clock in the morning; roll call at 5:15 a. m.; drill for about one hour. Physical drill under arms and bayonet drill. Breakfast at 6 o'clock. At 7:30 a. m. assemble on parade grounds for battalion drill, which lasts until 9:30, then back to the barracks for 20 minutes rest then drill till 11 a. m., after which we rest till 12 o'clock, when dinner is served. In the afternoon the time is taken up with drill, putting the camp in order or scrubbing clothes, for we are compelled to keep clean.

This morning I was assigned to special guard duty, looking for persons who do not work on the Island and those who are using passes to obtain admission to the Island.

Our Company consists of sixty-four men, and when it comes to drill or work, "believe me," the 94th Company is there to do a "big bit."

The work and the drilling you get here is to build up the body and make you fit for active service. I never felt better in my life than I do now. I am gaining in weight, also in appetite. I now weigh 155 pounds. Your loving son, Charles Barr Pollock, 94th Company, Marine Barracks, Paris Island, S. C.

ENTERTAINED THE FIVE HUNDRED CLUB

Mrs. V. P. Vieslet entertained the members of the Five Hundred Club at the Elks' parlors Tuesday evening at which time cards were the diversion of the evening. Later an elaborate course dinner was served, the table decorations in addition to the flowers being of a patriotic order, red, white and blue predominating. Out of town guests were present from McKeesport, Monaca, Belle Vernon and Brownsville. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Jenkins orchestra.

COUNTRY MINED COAL BY BARGE

The first country-mined and wagon-loaded coal from this pool in years was shipped from Allenport on Saturday last. The coal was of a medium quality and was consigned to the Duquesne Light company at Pittsburgh. The barge contained 10,000 bushels and was in charge of the steamer Clyde, Capt. Charles Crawford. Other barges are being loaded in the same manner at the same place and it will continue as long as the present conditions exist in the local coal market. By taking the coal to the river wagon loaders can be assured of several days work, once the craft is placed, and then the consideration is somewhat better than by rail.

MOVING PICTURES FOR AGRICULTURAL LECTURES

Arrangements for the lecture course of the Farmer's Institutes under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture which will begin November 13 and run until March 15, calls for a series of talks on stimulation of agricultural production along every line for which the soil of Pennsylvania has been found adapted. Moving pictures will be used in these lectures for the first time which are expected to lend much additional interest to the meetings. In Washington county these lectures will be given at Cross Creek, November 20-21; Hickory, November 22-23; Van Furen, November 24; Lone Pine, November 26; West Alexander, November 27-28.

WORK DELAYED BY TOO MUCH WATER

The heavy rains of the past week have raised the river to such an extent as to cause a cessation of work on the new dam at Lock No. 4. It has been hoped that the river would not rise sufficiently to prevent activities, and arrangements had been made to take care of a couple of feet of the rise, but Monday night the water came in such volume that it was found necessary to withdraw the dredge boat and scows from mid-stream until such time as the river resumed its normal stage.

Last week when the river showed an inclination to interfere with work the splash boards on the dam were removed and the large valves in the lock gates opened for the purpose of drawing off the surplus water. This plan worked all right for several days, but the rains of Friday night were so heavy that they caused a heavier rise than anticipated, which overflowed the dam in such volume that it compelled the officials to call a temporary halt on construction activities. Work will be resumed in a few days, however, as it will not take long for the rise to run out.

What Critics Say About "The Honor System"

New York Tribune

"Every one who sees it will send all his friends to see it, and by that time it will be time for him to see it again."

New York American

"The Birth of a Nation" at last eclipsed. Made new history in the film business. The most vital story ever put on the screen.

New York Evening Journal

"If you don't sit in your chair and hold tight, you are not human."
New York Evening Telegraph.
"The picture is deserving of universal attendance."

New York Evening Mail

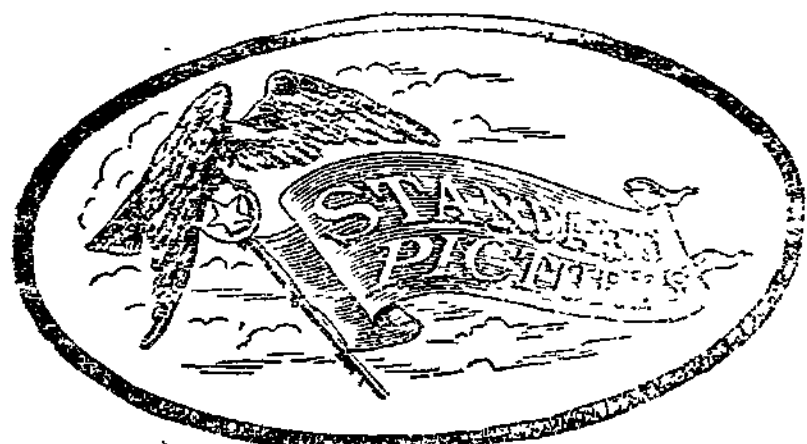

"The Honor System" has biggest theme of any screen production thus far. It will touch and move you—and set you thinking. It is an advance in story, marking the entrance of the photoplay into a big field of activity.
